

TED-Ed Diversity Conference @ NCHS

Who, What, Where, When, How?

Eva Pace and Caroline Challe

Who?

We have invited students from TED-Ed clubs across the tri-state area to give talks discussing diversity, including

- Lycée Français de New York (14 students)
- John L. Miller Great Neck North High School (11 students)
- Horace Mann (9 students)

What?

Brief Run-down of the schedule:

2:30: Caroline and Eva Arrive to organize food, Decor, film, and last-minute set-up

3:30: The Schools arrive and the conference begins! 🌸

- 1) According to the speakers list, Caroline and Eva will introduce students to the podium before they give their (up to 18 minute) talks
- 2) In Between each talk, students at their tables will have the opportunity to discuss it for a brief 5-10 minutes

6:00: the diversity conference concludes, say good-bye, time for clean up!

Where/When?

May 21

3:30-6PM

Wagner Room @ NCHS

Faculty Advisor: Emily Hernberg

It'll look a little something like this!

- Round table with chairs for students to sit & eat
- Podium/microphone for the speaker
- Projector slide with images, etc. for the speaker
- A good time!

How?

Using the money provided to us by the Wilburn Fellowship Program, we will be able to provide

- Food and drink for attendees
- Decoration for the Wagner Room
- Film supplies & website where we can post talks from the conference

Quite a bit of SWEAT from Eva and Caroline as we

- contact as many nearby TED-Ed clubs as we can,
- set up the Wagner room and organize logistics appropriately,
- sift through dozens of applications,
- establish a website and film plan
- make sure everyone is happy!

And of course, a little bit of heart from Caroline, Eva, and the entire TED-Ed club and staff that are helping to make this possible!

Details

This is a preview of our website. It will include student talks, and a forum where students can openly discuss how they are feeling in response to the talks (monitored by Eva and Caroline).

In Conclusion

The TED-Ed club at NCHS is more than excited to be hosting a one-of-a-kind conference to inspire students to discuss diversity in a welcoming and inclusive setting!

We'd like to thank the Wilburn Fellowship for helping us get the conference up and running. We'd love to continue working with you and value your support.
